CONGREGATION HONORS MEMBERS ON SIMHAT TORAH

"Finish-The-Building" Campaign Nears Completion Goal

Ira Lee reports with great enthusiasm that the flow of contributions from the synagogue family has been greater than even he anticipated! The surge in interest by the congregation to finish the job so that it can enjoy the new building free of debt is an accomplishment that few religious institutions in recent times have been able to achieve — and we are about to do it with the aid and support of hundreds of members.

We are reminded that with the celebration of the festival of Simhat Torah, the congregation enters its centennial year. What a gift it would be to ourselves if the Rabbi could be able to announce from the pulpit on that morning that we have accomplished our goal!

We invite ALL members of the congregational family to participate in the final phase of the project. A gift NOW will be doubly valuable as we have been promised matching funds for every gift that is received. Please don't delay any longer; send in your check or pledge today. What better gift can we give our children than an award-winning building, beautiful in all its aspects, a school building, free of debt, in which they will learn to carry on and perpetuate the traditions of our People? L'Shanah Tovah!

Do You Know That "60 Minutes" on CBS-TV

plans to show a segment on a program soon to be aired entitled "Newest Trends In Architecture"? Watch your TV Listings for the date of this particular segment because OUR NEW BUILDING is a part of it!!

Dr. Alice Ginott Shares Expertise With Congregation November 4

Parents Association invites the congregation to join them for a unique and stimulating evening, Wednesday, November 4 at 8 P.M., when Dr. Alice Ginott comes to Park Avenue Synagogue to share her professional insights and experiences with us in a talk entitled: "How To Communicate With Those We Love."

Dr. Alice Ginott

Verbal communication is the focus of Ginott skills. The purpose of her lectures, workshops and guidance groups with parents, teachers, couples and employers is to teach them how to enter into the world of another in a compassionate and understanding way.

A psychologist and psychotherapist, author and lecturer, Dr. Ginott was the wife and partner of the late Dr. Haim G. Ginott with whom she collaborated in his pioneering studies of parent-child, teacher-child relationships.

Dr. Ginott received her A.B. degree from Indiana University and her Masters and Ph.D. degrees from the Graduate Faculty of the New School For Social Research. She is a former professor of psychology at Hunter and Queens Colleges and a visiting scholar at Chatham College in Pittsburgh. She was the recipient of the Eleanor Roosevelt Humanities Award; a member of the 1970 White House Conference on Children; and the keynote speaker at a Symposium for the International Year of the Child held at the American University in Cairo, Egypt.

Margot Gusick, President of Parents Association, feels it an honor to share this evening with Dr. Alice Ginott with the congregation and with the community.

Park Avenue Synagogue will honor two of its distinguished members for their contribution to the synagogue and to the community along with the group of men and women who gave of their time, labor and dedication to turn the dream of a new school building into reality, during the celebration of Simhat Torah. Wednesday morning, October 21, the last day of Sukkot.

The closing days of the festival of Sukkot begin on Monday, October 19 with services at 5:45 P.M. On Shemini Atzeret, Tuesday, October 20, the Yizkor memorial prayers will be recited during services which begin at 9:30 A.M. The last day of the holiday, Simhat Torah, begins in the Sanctuary, Tuesday evening at 5:45 P.M. with the joyous Hakafot, the procession of the Torahs. And on Wednesday morning, at the service beginning at 9:30, the members of the congregation will be singled out for honor. Following the service, the congregation is invited to a Reception and Buffet in the Lemberg Auditorium in honor of the honorees.

Jack Resnick

The Nursery School Play Area on the fifth floor of the new building bears the name of our first honoree: Jack Resnick, along with his wife, Pearl. The Resnick name is legendary in a long list of major community projects. The Resnicks have been members of Park Avenue Synagogue for 18 years. They and their four children, Marilyn, Susan, Burton and Ira have followed their parents' example in service to the Jewish community.

Active in the real estate and construction industries for over 50 years, Mr. Resnick was honored in 1966 as "Man Of The Year" by the Real Estate Square Club for his achievements in the real estate industry. He is a benefactor of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine where he established the Jack and Pearl Resnick Gerontology Center as well as a fellowship in geriatrics to further research into the problems of the aged. He is a "Founder" of the Hebrew University, a patron of the Belfer School and a major contributor to the International Synagogue at Kennedy International Airport. He has also maintained a long family tradition as a

I'd Rather Do It Myself

For a long time the "Do It Yourself" revolution passed Jews by. Of course, as American homeowners and apartment dwellers we purchased books about fixing ceilings, floors, and appliances, but Jews were content to imagine that someone else could solve the problem of fixing up Jewish life for us all.

The experts have always been called in, and good experts they are! How many parents have depended on religious schools not only to teach, but to "be" the Jewish experience of their children's lives. How many Jews have been content with the knowledge that other people are studying, that other people are praying, that other people are involved with Synagogue life?

But the times have caught up with us. More and more people call me on the telephone and say: "I'd rather do it myself." But then they go on to say: "Just what do I do?" And those words are music to my ears.

Some suggestions for the New Year:
1) Do you have The Jewish Catalogue? If not, get one soon. It's full of ideas.
2) Come study. We are teaching a series of courses this year entitled "Returning to Judaism," designed to tell you the "How" as well as the "Why" of living as a Jew. And could you go wrong with any of our other courses as well??

3) Don't forget Sukkot. The whole body eats in the Sukkah and not just one part: That is a do-it-yourselfer's dream! And it is especially praiseworthy to have your own lulav and etrog. Call the Synagogue office and purchase a set for your family. But better yet, go down to the Lower East Side and buy one yourself.

After all, why not say this year: "I'd rather do it myself!"

Patrons Club To Expand Goals And Purpose

Arnold L. Sabin, a Vice-President of the Congregation and Chairman of the annual dinner held in the synagogue to benefit the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, has accepted an additional responsibility: Chairman of Patrons Club. He succeeds Abraham I. Sherr, Honorary President of the synagogue, who served as Chairman of Patrons Club with distinction.

Patrons Club is a unique institution. Membership is open to those congregants who are willing to support financially the programs of the synagogue year with an additional annual contribution of $1000 or more, over and above synagogue membership dues. (Donor and Sponsor categories are also available.)

Mr. Sabin, in assuming the chairmanship of Patrons Club, welcomes all those who feel they can join with him in this unique fellowship of purpose. He is also looking to widen the goals and purpose of Patrons Club. To that end he has scheduled a first meeting of the committee for Thursday, November 5 at 8 P.M.

All those interested in joining with Mr. Sabin in this "ideas" meeting, please contact him through the Synagogue Office, 369-2600.

Members Asked To Volunteer To Serve On Hospitality Committee

The summer months have proved that there is great interest on the part of visitors to our city to visit our synagogue. Even before the appearance of the Paul Goldberger article in the New York Times, there was much interest expressed by tourists and passers-by to see the new building and the Sanctuary. Visitors come from all parts of the country and the world.

As a result, thought is being given to the formation of a HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE, a committee under the direction of the Board of Trustees. Are you interested in serving on such a committee? If so, please call our Executive Director, Barrie Modlin, at 369-2600, during business hours, and volunteer to serve on the committee. Training will be provided and visitors to our synagogue will have an opportunity to see our synagogue with a friendly, knowledgeable guide — you!

Park Avenue Synagogue thanks its neighbor, St. Thomas More Church, for the detailed article praising the completion of our new building which appeared in the June, 1981 issue of MORE, its monthly parish newspaper. In a full page story, complete with photographs of our new school building and close-up photos of the Rapoport sculptures, the MORE article relates the background, meaning and purpose of our new building.

PARK AVENUE SYNAGOGUE IN 1927

This is a photo of the then new home of the Park Avenue Synagogue congregation. Note that the side entrance on the right of the building was later to be incorporated into the Milton Steinberg House (1953). The Moorish architectural elements on the facade serve to lighten the structure and give it an airy appearance. As you can see, there was no parking problem on 87th Street in 1927!

Special Fund Established To Aid Work Of Sisterhood

Sisterhood announces the establishment of a special fund, the contribution of Mrs. Mina Klein, to advance and enhance the work of Sisterhood.

Mrs. Klein, a member of Sisterhood's Executive Board, makes this gift to Sisterhood in memory of her sister, Mrs. Beatrice Friedland. She is joined in her gift by Mrs. Friedland's two children.

Sisterhood thanks Mrs. Klein for her gift and looks forward to its use to benefit the programs of Sisterhood for its membership, for the congregation and for the community.

supporter with a close, active affiliation with the Hebrew Home for the Aged.

At Park Avenue Synagogue, Mr. Resnick has served on the Board of Trustees and in 1978, he was the Guest of Honor at the Jewish Theological Seminary Dinner held at the synagogue.

Hadassah Nadich

Hadassah Nadich, our "rebbitzin," is truly the "first lady" of our congregation. An integral part of the life of the congregation for 25 years, Hadassah Nadich is an example to all of us that it is possible to do everything. Daughter, wife, mother, grandmother, lecturer, friend, hostess par excellence — all these roles, Hadassah Nadich continues to perform superbly.

Mrs. Nadich received her Bachelor of Hebrew Literature at the Seminary College of Jewish Studies of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and her A.B. degree from Hunter College. She studied in the Graduate School of Brandeis University in the Department of New Eastern Studies and Graduate School of Teachers Institute of the J.T.S. She was the first woman to hold the post of Executive Secretary of the Rabbinical Assembly of America. She also taught in the Women's Institute of the Seminary.

In addition to her service to the Sisterhood and the Women's Evening Group and to the congregation at large, she has been active in the work of the Women's League For Conservative Judaism and has had articles and book reviews published in the Jewish Spectator.

The Nadich's have three daughters: Leah, Shira and Nahma. Leah, a social worker and psychotherapist, is married to Rabbi Aryeh Meir; they have two children. Shira, a lawyer, is married to James L. Levin, a business executive with Merrill, Lynch; they have one son. Nahma, a psychiatric social worker, is head of social service at the Massachusetts State Hospital, Waltham, MA.

Our Fellow Congregants

Much has been said and written about the dedication of the men and women of our congregation who gave of their time, creativity and resources to allow the dream of a new school building become a reality. Praise from the community-at-large has been, and continues to be, lavish in its appreciation of this beautiful new addition to the cityscape. It is thus only fitting that this large group of our fellow congregants be recognized and honored for their job well-done. Rabbi Nadich will serve as the representative of this group when they are honored this Simhat Torah.

Have You Made Your Reservation To Sup-In-The-Sukkah?

There is still time to make your reservation to eat in the Sukkah. Supper will be served to congregants holding advanced reservations on five nights during the holiday of Sukkot, October 12, 13, 14, 16 and 18. There will be a Brunch served on Sunday, October 18 at 12 noon.

Following the holiday services, kiddush will be held in the Sukkah courtesy of Sisterhood.

On Thursday afternoon, October 17, students of the Daled Classes will have an early supper in the Sukkah and in the evening, the High School will sponsor its annual supper in the Sukkah for the students in the High School Department.

Parents Association thanks Sisterhood (October 12), Women's Evening Group (October 13), Singles Coordinating Committee (Sunday Brunch) and the Young Couples League of the Mr. and Mrs. Club (October 18) for their co-sponsorship of the Supper-In-The-Sukkah program.

For more information, call the Synagogue Office, 369-2600.

Festival Of Sukkot Celebrated By School Children

Just as the Children of Israel lived in temporary booths, Sukkahs, on their way from Egypt to the Promised Land, so will our school children re-live those days during the Festival of Sukkot.

On Sunday, October 11, everyone is invited to join in the decoration of the Sukkah beginning at 11 A.M. During the week, students in the High School will "green the Sukkah" in preparation of its decoration by members of the congregation on Sunday.

During the week of Sukkot, the children will have snacks in the Sukkah and say the special blessings as well as learn the laws relating to the building of a Sukkah. Lulavim and etrogim will be available in all classes.

Tuesday evening, October 20, Erev Simhat Torah, is the Festival of the Rejoicing of the Law. Everyone — all students of all ages, their families and friends — is invited to come at 6 o'clock for the Children's Hakafot, the singing and the merrymaking. Torah scrolls and brightly colored flags will be given to the younger children and the students of the upper grades will dance down the aisles with Torah Scrolls from the Ark.

Music That Lives!

The following statement appears in a recent Newsweek Magazine article: "... the Hazzan and his traditional voice is disappearing from the American synagogue." Photos show a young cantor at prayer, with a long woolen talit and a guitar, leading kids in camp songs and a cantorial student, bearded and bareheaded rehearsing his chants with hands in his pockets to the flute accompaniment of another cantorial student, a young woman.

After the article appeared congregants and friends called me, surprised and dismayed by the article, buoyed by their own experience at Park Avenue Synagogue where synagogue music always has been celebrated with respect for the past and the present. It is also true that several hundred American synagogues are served with great distinction by my colleagues in the Cantors Assembly, professional cantors possessing amazing talents, proficiency of craft and courageous dedication to the synagogue and to the preservation of its hallowed musical traditions.

In my opinion, the Newsweek article succumbed to sensationalism. It describes extremes and uses a pun as its subtitle: "Where have all the Hazzans gone?" It is true, the American Jewish scene has changed and continues to change. The change is rapid, but it is not sudden. Cantors in Conservative synagogues began adapting to this change in American Jewish life in the 1930s. In perspective, much of the change in style, word accentuation and the creation of congregational singing was sweeping, but it was accomplished gradually, led by distinguished cantors, the late David J. Putterman and his fellow colleagues who founded the Cantors Assembly. These Hazzanim led their congregations in song and prayer with a sense of integrity, liberalism and dedication to tradition.

The young men and women who are the cantorial students of today are part of our contemporary American scene in every way. They have chosen to spend five years to further their studies of Judaism and the complex cantorial heritage. They are preparing to serve Jewish congregations, bridging their generation with the generations of Jews which preceded them. We can only admire them and their efforts.

However, much of the repertoire and style which has mirrored centuries of Jewish life does stand in danger of being lost. On this point I agree with the Newsweek article. In the next issue of the BULLETIN, I plan to discuss this concern and offer some possible solutions to this problem.

SCHOOL BELLS RING IN SHERR INSTITUTE OF ADULT JEWISH STUDIES

The Sherr Institute of Adult Jewish Studies begins its fall series of courses during the week of October 26. Some highlights are:

JEWISH MOTHERS AND THEIR BABIES. In recognition of the many young families who have moved into our neighborhood, we are happy to offer a new and unusual course on infant development for mothers and their babies. From a unique perspective, Mrs. Carol Schapiro Kekst will lead this series of eight sessions. There will be a fathers' day, though fathers are invited to participate whenever they can. This course meets on Tuesdays beginning October 27, from 10 to 11:30 A.M. for mothers with children from 6 to 12 months of age, and again from 12 noon to 1:30 P.M. for mothers with children from birth to 6 months of age.

LUNCH 'N' STUDY. During four Tuesday afternoons, the first Tuesdays of November, December, February and March, congregants who work in midtown are invited to study during their lunch hour. Bring a paperbag lunch, and, from 12 noon to 1:40 P.M. study the text of the Book of Amos with Rabbi Wechsler. The class will end by 1:40 P.M. so that it will be possible to return to work by 2 P.M. Call the Synagogue office one week before the class on November 3 in order to find out where the first session will be held. The chairman of LUNCH 'N' STUDY is Mr. Alan Levine.

RETURNING TO JUDAISM. This new course is designed to fill a gap in the lives of many who, when their children begin to study in our school, say to themselves: "If only I could have this education myself." The course, "Returning to Judaism," is a basic Judaism course designed to teach adults the essence of Jewish practice and belief. It starts with the assumption that people know nothing at all. Beginning on October 26, the first sessions will be devoted to the Synagogue Service. It will be of interest to many that, should they wish to set aside Monday evenings from 7 until 9:30 P.M., they will be able to take a Hebrew course at 7 P.M., followed by the "Returning to Judaism" course at 8:15 P.M. This will make it possible to begin a series of courses in Jewish renewal that will enable adults to discover their Jewish roots.

TALMUD. And let it be not forgotten that other courses begin in October as well: Rabbi Wechsler's course in Talmud, meeting for ten Wednesday evenings will study the Tractate of Kiddushin: Laws concerning marriage, relations between parents and children, as well as the attitude toward old age, and this course begins on October 28.

HEBREW. Hebrew courses take place on the beginner, intermediate, and advanced levels during the day, taught by Mrs. Vivian Finkel, and on two levels, beginner and intermediate on Monday evenings. The Monday evening Hebrew courses will be taught by Mrs. Rahel Bloch, Principal of our Elementary School, and by Mr. Jeffrey Segelman, a new member of the Sherr Institute faculty.

Older and Wiser

Beginning on Monday, October 26, Park Avenue Synagogue initiates a new program for senior citizens who are affiliated with our Congregation as well as those who would like to come into the Synagogue to devote time to Jewish study.

Reserve Monday afternoons beginning October 26 for two courses, from 1 to 3 P.M. The Fall will be devoted to examining the Book of Genesis from a modern point of view, as well as to a discussion of options open to Jews today: Reform, Conservative, Orthodox or Secularist. Both will be taught by Mr. Jonathan Kohn.

These courses result from a cooperative arrangement worked out between Park Avenue Synagogue and the Jewish Theological Seminary's Brookdale Community Services Program. It is a venture which ought benefit our entire community and ought enrich the lives and the minds of many people who have wanted to study but not had adequate opportunities before.

Come study on Monday afternoons. You will grow and develop new interests; you will be able to explore old interests in a new way. Refreshments will be served.

Rabbi Wechsler Guest Speaker
At Men's Club Sunday Brunch

Men's Club invites its members and prospective members to a Brunch at which Rabbi Harlan J. Wechsler will be the guest speaker. This is the opening social event of the Men's Club year and will take place in the synagogue on Sunday morning, October 25 at 11 A.M.

Men's Club plans a busy year, striving to balance the social, intellectual and service aspects of their organization. They will offer to their membership and to the synagogue and community a series of interesting and challenging speakers, the Hanukkah Ezra Program, a theatre party and sports activities.

"We want to encourage all the men of Park Avenue Synagogue to become members of Men's Club, support our activities and become actively involved in the planning and implementation of our program," says President Alan Bandler.

Members of Men's Club have accepted committee chairmanships for 1981-82 and they welcome individual inquiries from prospective members concerning the scope and content of the committee work they wish to join.
